

Summer Riddles

From brainpuzzles.games

1.

I follow you around all summer on sunny days, but the moment clouds roll in, I disappear. What am I?

3.

I wear a green jacket on the outside and a red shirt on the inside, and I'm covered in black freckles. What am I?

5.

I'm cold and sweet, and if you're too slow with me, I'll run right down your fingers. What am I?

7.

Why do bananas wear sunscreen at the beach?

9.

What do frogs love to eat on a hot summer day?

11.

Where do sheep go on summer vacation?

13.

Why did the sun enroll in summer school?

15.

What's a shark's favorite sandwich?

2.

You bring me home from the beach without meaning to, and you'll still be shaking me out of your shoes in October. What am I?

4.

What kind of tree can fit in your hand?

6.

Why did the crab refuse to share his beach toys?

8.

I sit in the backyard full of water all summer, and kids cannonball into me. What am I?

10.

What kind of bow is impossible to tie?

12.

I get up every morning without an alarm and stay out extra late all summer long. What am I?

14.

I fly without wings on a breezy beach day, but only if you hold my string. What am I?

16.

I protect your eyes from the glare and make everyone look instantly cooler. What am I?

17.

Why don't oysters ever share their pearls?

19.

Why don't mountains ever get hot in the summer?

21.

I'm a house you carry on your back all the way to camp. What am I?

23.

Why couldn't the two melons run away together and get married?

25.

How do you pay for things at the beach?

27.

What kind of hair does the ocean have?

29.

What did the pig say while lying on the beach on the hottest day of summer?

31.

Where do fish keep their summer savings?

33.

Ø>ÝÊ + Ø<ßu

35.

Ø=Ý% + Ø=Ü

18.

I'm the sound of summer nights: tiny wings, a whiny hum, and an itchy souvenir. What am I?

20.

Where does a boat go when it feels sick?

22.

What falls all summer but never gets hurt?

24.

I'm frozen juice on a stick, and I turn every tongue a funny color. What am I?

26.

Kids circle around me at night while I crackle, and the marshmallows fear me. What am I?

28.

What is the best day of the week to go to the beach?

30.

What gets bigger at the beach the more you take out of it?

32.

A lemonade stand sells 4 cups an hour for 3 hours. How many cups is that?

34.

Ø<ßÖp + &½

36.

In the Northern Hemisphere, summer days are longer than winter days.

37.

A watermelon is more than 90 percent water.

39.

I come in a bottle, I smell like coconut, and I stop you from turning red at the beach. What am I?

41.

I am where the sand meets the sea, and people bring towels and umbrellas to visit me. What am I?

43.

I am a cold, sweet-and-sour drink that kids sell from a stand on hot days. What am I?

45.

I am a long board you ride standing up on top of the ocean waves. What am I?

47.

I am a break from school or work when families travel somewhere fun, and I am most common in summer. What am I?

49.

I sizzle burgers and hot dogs in the backyard all summer long. What am I?

51.

What do you call a snowman who wanders into the middle of July?

53.

How does the ocean greet the shore every summer morning?

38.

The Eiffel Tower gets a little taller in the summer.

40.

I am the easy summer shoe that slaps the ground with every step. What am I?

42.

I am built from wet sand with a bucket and a shovel, and one wave can knock me down. What am I?

44.

I glow on and off on warm summer nights, and kids catch me in jars. What am I?

46.

I spin in the yard and spray water so kids can run through me on a hot day. What am I?

48.

I open up wide at the beach to give you a circle of shade. What am I?

50.

I wash up on the shore, I was once a sea creature's home, and you can hear the ocean when you hold me to your ear. What am I?

52.

Why did the ice cream truck break down on the way to the beach?

54.

Why won't seagulls ever fly over the bay?

55.

I'm a campfire treat of chocolate and marshmallow between graham crackers, and my name means you always want another. What am I?

57.

You lie on the beach to earn me, but a few minutes too long turns me into a painful burn. What am I?

59.

I rattle in the window on the hottest afternoons and turn a stuffy room into a cool cave. What am I?

61.

The more I dry, the wetter I become, waiting for you on the sand. What am I?

63.

I'm born in a tray, I live in your lemonade, and my whole short life I am busy disappearing. What am I?

65.

I have a neck but no head and two arms but no hands, and you fold me into the suitcase for every summer trip. What am I?

67.

What did the shore say to the tide when it rolled back in after a long day?

69.

Why did the lemon quit halfway up the hill on the long summer road trip?

56.

I climb higher on scorching days and slide down when it cools, yet I never leave my spot on the wall. What am I?

58.

I spin in circles all summer and throw my cool breath across the room, but I never take a single step. What am I?

60.

I hang between two trees and rock you gently to sleep on a lazy summer afternoon. What am I?

62.

I have a mouth but never eat, a bed but never sleep, and I rush past the summer campsite day and night. What am I?

64.

I trail behind you all along the shore, and the more of me you make, the farther you have wandered. What am I?

66.

Why is the beach the worst place in summer to eat your lunch?

68.

What did the bottle of sunscreen say to the blazing summer sun?

70.

Why did the ocean decide to stop dating the little pond?

71.

I paint the summer night in bursts of color, I boom louder than thunder, and I vanish before you can point twice. What am I?

73.

I tell the time all summer without a gear or a battery, but the moment a cloud passes I go completely silent. What am I?

75.

I get thrown overboard on purpose, and the heavier I am, the better I do my job holding the boat still. What am I?

77.

I stretch and shrink beneath the tree all day, and on a scorching afternoon everyone races to sit inside me. What am I?

79.

The harder the wind pushes against me, the faster I carry the whole boat forward. What am I?

81.

I break over the ocean every summer morning, yet I never crack, shatter, or need repair. What am I?

83.

I'm a little mountain of crushed ice you eat with a spoon, and my bright color always lies about my flavor. What am I?

85.

What did the ear of corn say after a great summer barbecue?

72.

I'm a little stick you hold at arm's length on the Fourth of July, and I let you write your name in the dark for a moment. What am I?

74.

You cannot see me sneaking up at the beach, you only feel me hours later, and I make you wish you had reapplied. What am I?

76.

You cannot see me or hold me, but on a sweltering beach day everyone begs me to show up. What am I?

78.

I show up when you play hard in the heat, I drip but I am not rain, and I taste a little like the sea. What am I?

80.

On the baking summer highway I promise you a puddle of water in the distance, but you can never reach me. What am I?

82.

I'm the pale stripe your watch strap leaves on your arm after a week in the summer sun. What am I?

84.

I gain a lot of weight the night before a summer trip and lose it all the day you unpack. What am I?

Answer Key

Summer Riddles, from brainpuzzles.games

1. Your shadow.
2. Sand.
3. A watermelon.
4. A palm tree.
5. An ice cream cone.
6. Because he was a little shellfish.
7. So they don't peel.
8. A swimming pool.
9. Hopsicles.
10. A rainbow.
11. The Baa-hamas.
12. The sun.
13. To get a little brighter.
14. A kite.
15. Peanut butter and jellyfish.
16. Sunglasses.
17. Because they're shellfish.
18. A mosquito.
19. They wear snow caps.
20. To the dock.
21. A tent.
22. Rain in a summer storm.
23. Because they cantaloupe.
24. A popsicle.
25. With sand dollars.
26. A campfire.
27. Wavy hair.
28. SUN-day.
29. I'm bacon. I'm bacon! Hot pig, hot pun.
30. A hole. Every scoop of sand you take out makes the hole bigger.
31. In the river bank. The river bank, the only bank with no lines.
32. 12. 4 cups times 3 hours makes 12 cups of lemonade.
33. Iced tea (ice plus tea).
34. A beach ball (beach plus ball).

35. A hot dog (hot plus dog).
36. True. Around the June solstice, the Northern Hemisphere tilts toward the sun and daylight stretches out.
37. True. It's about 92 percent water, which is why it's the unofficial drink you can chew.
38. True. Heat makes the iron expand, so the tower grows by around 15 centimeters on hot days.
39. Sunscreen.
40. Flip-flops.
41. The beach.
42. A sandcastle.
43. Lemonade.
44. A firefly.
45. A surfboard.
46. A sprinkler.
47. A vacation.
48. A beach umbrella.
49. A grill.
50. A seashell.
51. A puddle.
52. It hit a rocky road.
53. It waves.
54. Because then they would be bagels.
55. A s'more.
56. A thermometer.
57. A suntan.
58. A fan.
59. An air conditioner.
60. A hammock.
61. A beach towel.
62. A river.
63. An ice cube.
64. Footprints.
65. A shirt.
66. Because of all the sand which gets in your food.
67. Long time no sea.
68. You cannot burn me, I have got you covered.
69. It ran out of juice.
70. It wanted someone with more current.

71. Fireworks.
72. A sparkler.
73. A sundial.
74. A sunburn.
75. An anchor.
76. A breeze.
77. The shade.
78. Sweat.
79. A sail.
80. A mirage.
81. The dawn.
82. A tan line.
83. A snow cone.
84. A suitcase.
85. That was a-maize-ing.